Composition Writing (20 marks)

Write a composition of at least 120 words about a disappointment.

The pictures, not arranged in sequence, are provided to help you think about this topic.

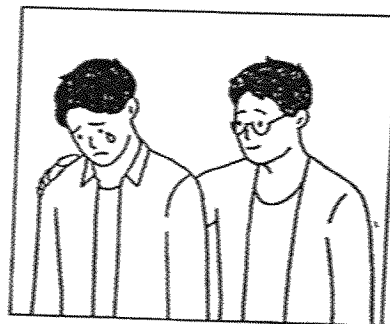

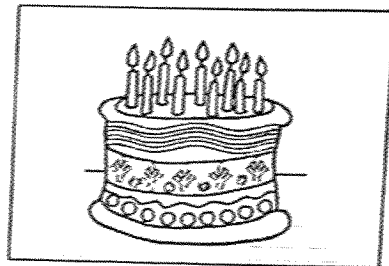

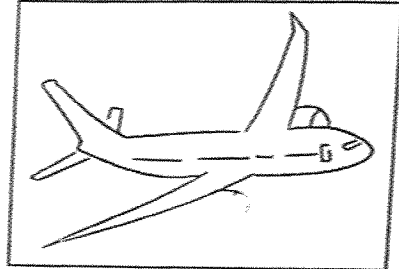

Your composition should be based on one or more of these pictures.

Consider the following points when you plan your composition:

- What was the disappointment moment?
- Why was it a disappointing moment?
- What happened in the end?
- What did the person learn from this experience?

Helping Words:

- looking forward
- waiting excitedly
- lost for words
- discouraged
- felt miserable
- pat my friend on the back
- hung my head in shame
- sobbing uncontrollably

Model Composition

About a disappointment

I still remember the day my family and I were supposed to go on a trip to another country. I had been looking forward to it for weeks, waiting excitedly to see new places and try new foods. But on the day of our departure, we received some devastating news: our flight had been cancelled due to bad weather.

I was lost for words, feeling discouraged and miserable. My brother, who had been just as excited as I was, was sobbing uncontrollably. I felt terrible for him, and I didn't know how to comfort him. But then, I saw one of our friends consoling him, patting him on the back and telling him that everything would be okay. This made me realize that I should be doing the same.

As we stood there, feeling disappointed and frustrated, I put my arm around my brother and tried to cheer him up. We eventually decided to celebrate his birthday, which was the reason for our trip, with a birthday cake at home instead. It wasn't the same as going on a trip, but it was still a special moment. In the end, I learned that even though things don't always go as planned, we can still find ways to make the most of a situation and be there for each other.
